

Navigate South Africa's Evolving Corporate Governance Landscape

The corporate governance framework in South Africa is undergoing its most significant transformation in over a decade. With the recent enactment of the Companies Amendment Act (No. 16 of 2024) and Companies Second Amendment Act (No. 17 of 2024), alongside the forthcoming King V Code, organizations face substantial compliance challenges and strategic opportunities. These legislative changes introduce enhanced transparency requirements for executive remuneration, restructure Social & Ethics Committee mandates, provide mechanisms to validate historically irregular share issuances, extend limitation periods for holding directors accountable, and implement more rigorous disclosure obligations. This comprehensive workshop, led by Grant Wilkinson, delivers practical insights on implementing these critical changes while maintaining operational efficiency. Participants will receive actionable guidance on aligning their governance structures with these new requirements before the implementation deadlines, helping to mitigate compliance risks and strengthen organizational integrity in this new regulatory environment.
